SANTA FE CIRCULAR

Which Provides for the Change of Receivers. The Santa Fe receivers propose to have direct knowledge of what is going on in the freight and tariff departments of the road hereafter, and if any rebates are paid they propose to know it.

The receivers have issued a circular, in which they relieve their freight and passenger traffic managers of a large block of responsibility.

The much-talked-about circular, which explains itself, is as follows:

Achison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad system. Offices of the receivers of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, St. Louis & San Francisco railway, Atlantic & Pacific railroad, Colorado Midland railroad, Chicago, November 1, 1894—Circular No. 1: From the above date the authority of D. B. Robinson, general agent of the undersigned receivers, will embrace all matters except such as directly pertain to freight or passenger traffic, or to the legal department.

W. H. Biddle is appointed freight traffic manager for the receivers.

W. E. White, passenger traffic manager, and W. B. Biddle, freight traffic manager, will both report directly to the receivers, and their authority will include matters connected with the passenger and freight traffic, respectively, of the lines operated and controlled by the several receivers.

Aldace P. Walker, John J. McCook, Joseph C. Wilson, receivers.

MUSICAL FARCE COMEDY.

Charles A. Loder, German Comedian, Will Be at the Grand Monday Night.

This is the ninth season that Charles A. Loder has been starring in the United States as a German dialect comedian and he has succeeded in making for himself quite a reputation.

On the occasion of his return to Topeka Monday night he will play the musical farce comedy, "Oh, What a Night." He is supported by a company that is described as clever in musical and dancing specialties. The man who wrote "White Wings" is with Loder this year. If the photographs are to be believed, there will be lots of pretty girls with the company.

ROBT. MCINTYRE IS ONE

Of the Attractions Washburn College will Bring Here.

The Washburn college entertainment course opens next Friday evening at the chapel with Edward P. Elliott, the renowned impersonator and monologist.

Following this entertainment are two comedians and three lectures. The Slayton jubilee singers are engaged for December 7, John R. Clarke January 9, Pres. Geo. A. Johns February 9, Rev. Robert McIntyre March 2 and the college Glee club with Prof. Palmer as reader April 6.

The tickets for the entire course are $1.50 which will doubtless make the course available to a great many people. Seats can be secured at the college library and the city library after 9 o'clock on Tuesday.

A FREE SHAVE.

That's What Constable McMillan Nearly Had at the Hands of a Prisoner.

Charles McMillan, who is starting jointly as constable with Fred McMillan in Justice Chesney's court, came near losing his overcoat. That is he came near having it cut off him by Jim Miller, a colored man whom he was trying to arrest. Miller is one of the men mixed up in Tuesday night's cutting scrape and there was a warrant even out for him.

When McMillan tried to serve the warrant, Miller drew his razor and began his shaving operation. McMillan was able to get off with only a few cuts on his overcoat. He arrested Miller, however.

MRS. LEASE HAS PLANS.

She Proposes That a New Suffrage Amendment

BE SUBMITTED THE COMING YEAR

At the County Elections as Was Done in Colorado—She Denies That She Intends to Start a Newspaper.

Mrs. Lease, who has been in Topeka since yesterday in session at the insane asylum and the reform school with the state board of charities, came to town this morning and went to the statehouse with the board.

She was at the National hotel for a few moments while waiting for the board to assemble and a STATE JOURNAL reporter found her there.

Mrs. Lease has lost none of her energy since the rather discouraging defeat of her party at the late election, and rather feels as though she somewhat was delighted in being able to point with pride to her absence in the campaign, and also to the verification of her prophecy of two years ago, that the sending of John Martin to the United States senate meant certain defeat to the Populists of Kansas at their next election.

With the exception of a slight cold she was feeling well, and certainly looked it.

"I cannot say that I am really glad that the Populists were defeated," said she, "but I cannot help saying there is a great deal of satisfaction in it to me. At John Martin's election I prophesied it and you know how much a woman so much as to be able to say 'I told you so.'"

"There are some great lessons in the defeat that I can see. It has taught the party that the election of a Democrat to the United States senate was a mistake. It has taught it that it was a mistake to pick up people and put them in power when they were neither capable nor worthy. I don't think it will make the mistake again. It is true that our party has been misled into picking up nobodies and giving them the highest offices. The defeat is a blessing in those particulars and in the particular that it will give us two more years for education, more particularly as regards suffrage."

"Do you think suffrage had anything to do with defeating the party at this election?"

"Well, yes; to a considerable extent. I don't think it was wise to make suffrage a partisan issue either for the good of the party or of suffrage."

"Why?"

"Well, speakers were sent out in the interest of both, that did neither good. For instance, one woman lost votes to both wherever she spoke."

"Was that what you asked the reporter in vain?"

"Oh, no; Mrs. Johns did no very active campaigning; and besides I could not mean her, Mrs. Johns is a very sweet woman and did good work for the cause of suffrage."

"You must mean Mrs. Dirge?"

"Yes, I mean Mrs. Dirge, pausing expressively, 'I won't speak of her, but it is certain that a good deal of the defeat of suffrage can be attributed to quarrelsome women who let their tempers get away with them.'"

"The nonpartisan women of the local suffrage association lay defeat to the treasury of the Republican women."

Mrs. Lease's lip curled slightly. "That is silly," she said.

"I am in favor of losing no time in submitting the amendment again," she continued, "and I am already taking steps to see if I can't get it submitted at the next election next year. I have been told that the amendment on the amendment must take place at a general election time, but I am going to investigate the matter thoroughly, and if it is possible I am going to make an earnest effort along that line. I think we need a great deal of education on the matter of suffrage, and it may be that the state was not ripe for a vote on it this year. There were lots of voters who did not understand it at all, and that did not care. If it is possible to get it before the people at the county elections next year, I am going to work to have it done. I have my plans already laid."

"Is it true that you are going to start a paper here or at Wichita?"

Mrs. Lease laughed and said: "I don't see how that story got started. It is certainly not true. I could not afford to spend my time running a newspaper, and besides what object would I have? No, I am not going into the newspaper business."

Mrs. Lease will be in Topeka over Sunday and will then resume her work as a member of the state board of charities.

KANSAS DAIRYMEN.

Their Annual Meeting to Be Held in Topeka Next Week.

The Kansas State Dairy association will hold its eighth annual session in this city on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Ex-Congressman J. G. Otis will deliver the address of welcome, and the response will be made by C. E. Dexter, a prominent dairyman of Chicago. A. E. Jones of this city will discuss the progress of "cited" legislation in Kansas at the second day's session. John K. Forney of Abilene will answer the question: "Have the low prices for the past season been due to the universal law of supply and demand?"

Prof. Henry of the Wisconsin dairy school will deliver an address during the session.

The following premiums will be awarded by the association:

Association medal for highest score, any process, valued at $30; all creamery butter scoring 95 and over, $25; all creamery butter scoring 90 and less than 95, $20; all creamery butter scoring 85 and less than 90, $15; all dairy butter scoring 98 and over, $8; all dairy butter scoring 95 and less than 98, $5; all dairy butter scoring 88 and less than 95, $2; all cheese, any make, scoring 95 and over, $5; all cheese any make, scoring 85 and less than 90, $5.

Merit is best brought out by the test of competition. That is why Dr. Price's Baking Powder has been so successful at the World's Columbian Exposition.

THERE WAS A BIG CROWD

At the Opening of the New High School Last Night.

The brilliantly lighted assembly room of the high school was crowded last evening with the biggest audience ever assembled there. The dedication exercises of the school took place.

President A. R. Taylor created no little comment by an assertion in his oration. He said: "Alexander was thankful that he had Philip for a father and Aristotle for a teacher. Who has for a father? Now, it matters little who is a boy's father, but it matters much who is his teacher."

Continuing, he said: "However great the temptation, I must not take your time to describe the teacher required for insuring the skill of which I have been speaking tonight. Let it suffice for me to say that he ought not only to have a thorough education and be an expert in the management of educational process, but that he ought to have a passion for learning and be consumed with an all-absorbing desire to serve the children and the youth entrusted to his care. No indifferent, halfhearted drone ought to teach school. Hearing recitations is not teaching. A manakin can do that."

President Taylor was followed by Chancellor Snow, of the State university. Chancellor Snow took exception to Prof. Taylor's statement about the teacher. "I do not agree with Dr. Taylor," said he, "that it does not matter who is a boy's father. It does matter much; but the teacher also has a great work to perform in the child's development."

President Fairchild, of the State Agricultural college, made a few remarks.

President R. B. Welch, of the city board of education, presided at the meeting.

The high school chorus entertained the audience with some very excellent singing, and Prof. W. H. Leib sang a solo and responded to an encore.

By its superb qualities Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder has become incomparably the household favorite.

HOME RULE AGAIN.

Chief Justice Horton on the Metropolitan Police Law.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 16.—Chief Justice Horton created a sensation at the banquet given here last night to the newly elected state officers. Justice Horton responded to the toast, "The Judiciary," and it was not until a small hour of the morning that he had an opportunity to speak. Temporarily leaving his subject, he launched into a discussion of the municipal rottenness in Kansas, and his remarks fell on appreciative ears.

"If we were governor of this state," he said, "I would never appoint a woman to the police force; nay, if I were governor of Kansas, I would tell the people of Leavenworth that they were intelligent and sufficiently able to run their own affairs without interference from the state."

Exclamation words followed immediately, so that Justice Horton was obliged to stop. The fact that Mr. Morrill applauded vigorously with his hands gave the banquet reason to believe that home rule will soon return to Leavenworth. Upon the conclusion of the toast the chief justice was given three rousing cheers and a tiger.

MAY NOT LENCH HIM.

The Atchison Negro Assailant is Now in Jail and Under Guard.

ATCHISON, Kan., Nov. 17.—The man who assaulted four women here yesterday morning was found to be Tom Collins, a negro lodger from Fort Leavenworth, who had been in Atchison the past three days on a spree. He was traced to Leavenworth, arrested and brought back here, where he was secretly taken to the county jail where he is under a heavy guard. It is thought now the law will be allowed to take its course.

Mrs. McKane is in a precarious condition tonight and may succumb to her injuries.

It is said that S. M. Scott, of the state board of public works, who thought he was a candidate for congress, will travel for an eastern wholesale house in Kansas.

Walker Atkinson, who cut Robert Hoggart with a razor the other night, has been arrested on complaint of Hoggart's wife and will be tried before Justice Chesney.

Huss Padgett, who has been arrested for complicity with Con Ryan et al. in breaking into Squibb's drug store some time ago, is being tried in Justice Furry's court today.

The case of Parkhurst against ex-United States Marshal Dick Walker to recover $7,000 for a grocery stock levied upon by Walker has been completed before Judge Johnson.

Ed Griffith, formerly of the Santa Fe division superintendent's office here, but now located at Trinidad, Colo., is in the city yesterday to attend the funeral of his uncle, Wm. Wampler.

It is announced that the three members of the board of public works intend to resign the first week of Governor Morrill's administration, and save the governor the trouble of removing them.

Theo. Etherhart, who runs a barber shop on Kansas avenue near First street, has been arrested by the police for harboring a slot machine. His case came up in police court this morning, but has been continued.

Albert Brown, one of the colored young men who, it is claimed, was implicated in the cutting scrape Tuesday night in which Wm. Tucker was hurt, has been arrested and will be tried before Justice Chesney.

The Rock Island had four cars of Phillips excursionists enroute to Topeka yesterday. They were from the vicinity of Chicago and Minneapolis and are bound for California by way of Colorado. They had a special train.

Charles Latham has been captured by the police here and is being held until the marshal of Garnett can arrive and take him there. He is charged with stealing a suit of clothes and an overcoat from J. S. Tedford of that place.

In the months of October and November Ingleside has given in charity 677 meals and 204 nights' lodgings. During this period 18 charity inmates have been cared for. The board of directors wish to return thanks for donations from various friends.

About seventy members of the Topeka Winged Art association, (stenography is called the "winged art") were present at the reception at the rooms of Miss Anna Canan, between Seventh and Eighth on Kansas avenue last evening. There was an excellent programme and refreshments were served.

A large well is being dug at the state insane asylum. It will be forty feet in diameter, and will be capable of adding greatly to the water supply. It is also to be an additional precaution against fire. It is being dug near the pump house by the river side. The work is being done by the aid of a steam shovel.

Mrs. P. Walsh, Mrs. Dan Clements, Mrs. Lena Wyatt, and other ladies of the Catholic church, are organizing themselves into a relief society, to look after the poor of their own church. They have left postal cards with Mrs. Thorpe, that word may be sent them when such cases are found. It is said by Mrs. Thorpe that not many Catholics apply for help to public charities.

There is a farm over in Highland Park that belongs to Jonathan Richmond. There is some good hunting on the farm and it also belongs to Mr. Richmond. M. McGinty, who seems to have returned from his explorations among the mounds that he went on about six years ago, coveted this hunting and went after it. The consequence is that Mr. Richmond has had him arrested and he will be tried in Justice Chesney's court.

Workmen have been busily engaged this week on the Cumberland Presbyterian church, corner of Polk and Huntoon streets, making a partition between the auditorium and the Sunday school room; also repairing the furnaces, so that the church is now comfortably fitted up for the approaching winter.
